Greenville, SC -- ~~December 18~~March~~February 16, 2009~~10 -- InSite Consulting recently completed an Economic Development Strategic Plan - Certified Client Ready Building Assessment Program, sponsored by Duke Energy Alliance Pickens, for Anderson-Pickens County, South Carolina. Our~~The~~ ultimate goal for this service was to identify sustainable, strategic opportunities and propose actions to retain and attract new investment, create quality jobs, and generate greater wealth in Pickens County. InSite designed the Strategic Plan with the goal of positioning Pickens County as globally competitive.

~~make recommendations that enhance the future marketability of not only existing buildings, but also the communities promoting them. The program addresses the need for viable buildings that play an important role in a community's marketing toolbox.~~

~~Randy Broome~~Farley, partner with ~~Duke Energy~~Executive Director of Alliance Pickens, says that InSite's "flexibility in wanting to truly add value for these organizations is much appreciated. This program is being extremely well received in the counties where we are currently evaluating buildings. InSite is a great partner and is really going all-out for this program."Tonya [Crist] and Rob [Cornwell] kept the process on track to meet our deadlines."

~~Burriss Nelson, Interim Director, Anderson County Economic Development,~~Further, Ray said this about his experience with had this to say about InSite Consulting: "Because Tonya [Crist] and Rob [Cornwell] have backgrounds within which they have worked on both sides of the table, they develop strategic plans with the critical eye of a site selector, and the tactical eye of an economic developer."

"I was very pleased with the high level of professionalism and breadth of experience displayed by Tonya Crist and Rob Cornwell. Their ability to define all of the critical information necessary for us to make an informed decision made our job easier."
