InSite Consulting Adds Ferguson As Business Analyst

GREENVILLE, SC – September 17, 2008 – Upstate-headquartered InSite Consulting LLC has added Lindsay Ferguson as a business analyst to the fast-growing site selection and economic development consulting firm.

A native of Greenville, Ms. Ferguson joins InSite Consulting from First Cellular/Suncom where she worked since 2006. Prior to that, Ms. Ferguson was with Fluor Corporation and lived abroad.

Her responsibilities will include business analysis and research support for both site selection and economic development clients, including such areas as community readiness assessment, evaluation of marketing strategies, identification of key site selection location factors, and competitive site analysis.

A magna cum laude graduate of the University of South Carolina's Darla Moore School of Business in Columbia with a B.S. in Business Administration, Ms. Ferguson is also an active member of the American Marketing Association.

InSite Consulting LLC is the strategic site selection partner of choice to Fluor Global Location Strategies, providing a comprehensive array of site selection and economic development consulting services to Fluor clients around the globe. InSite provides services in site selection, economic development consulting and training, and real estate. Co-founded in 2004 by Principals Rob Cornwell and Tonya Crist, InSite principals have sited in excess of $10 billion worth of facilities for some of the world's best-known companies, including Caterpillar, Shell Oil, Mercedes Benz, Procter & Gamble, Heinz and Black & Decker.
